English Language Arts
Essential Skill Component	Standard	Sub Component	Quarterly Focus
Reading			Quarter 1 Focus:
Foundational Skills			Literature: Fifth grade will focus on determining what the text says explicitly and when drawing inferences from the text, however one focus of instruction should be quoting accurately from the text to support reasoning and logic. This will lay a foundation for the next three quarters. Fifth grade will focus on determining a theme or main idea in both literature and informational text, however one focus of instruction will be specifically adding an understanding of how characters or people respond to challenges. Students will continue to describe characters, setting and events, however a specific focus of instruction will be comparing and contrasting these elements in two or more texts, drawing on specific details. Use questions and prompts such as:            *Can you tell me the reasons why you think...            *Show where you linked your thinking to the text.            *What are the most important events that happened in the story? How do you know?            *What is the theme of this text?            *Summarize the paragraph, chapter, or story.            *How did the character solve the problem in this story?            *Describe how these two characters are similar/different.            *Think about what you read... Who is telling the story?            *Can you tell how the person telling the story is thinking? How does this affect the events in the story?            *Can you offer specific details from the story to show us how characters reacted?            *Can you point to specific evidence that supports a certain point? Informational Text: In fifth grade, students link reading to writing when they write opinion pieces on topics or texts, supporting a point of view with reasons and information A focus of instruction
